

Angela Millar, Improvement Advisor

Career Overview

I qualified as a Physiotherapist in 1988 and spent most of my career working as part of a multidisciplinary team working with older people. For many years I jumped about the Physiotherapy gym to motivate patients to achieve the best they could which was very rewarding for us all. Throughout my Physiotherapy career I worked to make things better for patients and this enthusiasm for improvement resulted in me taking up an improvement role within the Medicine Directorate in Ninewells in 2012 and then with the Service Improvement Team in 2018. I am passionate that improvement should be part of everyone's role and as a team player I enjoy working with different people within different services to improve patient care and experience.
